

DITA ANDAYANI, DRS.ICHWAN SUYUDI, MM

Penulisan Ilmiah, Fakultas Sastra, 2002

Universitas Gunadarma

<http://www.gunadarma.ac.id>

kata kunci : english language - grammar

Abstraksi :

English becomes a very important language to communicate with the people all around the world. It is an international language that is spoken by almost people in this world. As a university student, of course the writer is demanded to be able speaking English fluently both active and passive. Not only the writer, but also all the university students as the next generation of this country to build the country better than before by communicating with correct English with the people around the world. Correct English speaking and writing require a good understanding in English Grammar. Grammar is an important part of English. We just cannot ignore the using of the grammar in our English speaking or writing. That is why the writer is interested to write a research paper relating to the English Grammar, it is about the Adjective Clause. The writer hopes that this paper can help those who want to learn more about the Adjective Clause and as a reference concerning to the Adjective Clause.